Designed to move with you

We believe that true confidence begins with the freedom to express yourself. Expression shapes personality, builds empathy, and strengthens the way young people move through life.

That's why we create frames that move in every sense of the word: with you, with trends, with life itself. Ultra-light and flexible, designed to follow every shift in style and mood. No need to choose between comfort and character.

With a focus on sustainability, our frames prove that style and responsibility go hand in hand.

Th

Freedom of expression builds confidence, empathy, and connection – qualities that shape stronger individuals and a better world.

Through my eyes brings that belief to life. In this campaign, young people share how they see the world: honest words, unpolished visuals, and everyday moments. No scripts, no filters – just real voices in JustMILO frames.

through my eyes

JustMILO frames are ultralight and flexible, designed to move with you, and follow every shift in style and mood. Made for young people.

Through my eyes:

The world is full of colours and sounds that I lose myself in. Krakow's streets inspire me when creating my art, and every corner feels like a story waiting to be told. Art isn't just a hobby—it's how I make sense of the world, messy and vibrant as it is.

Through my
eyes:

Nothing beats hours in a library or café, lost in books or deep conversations, with a good coffee in hand. Every question opens a door to something new. With all the fast-moving tech around us, I really hope we will never forget the real value of books, hand-made crafts and (most of all) real connection.

Through my
eyes:

I often get lost in my own thoughts, drifting through busy streets and the constant hum around me. Even a rainy day can hold something magical if you know where to look. I wish for a world where we notice these little moments together, where understanding, kindness, and connection help bring more peace in this world.

Through my
eyes:

I see the world in the people around me. Moments we really connect - like eating together, telling stories, laughing until it hurts - are what make life fun. Even when things get busy, those little moments are what really count. Remember to let the people close to you know they matter.

Through my
eyes:

The world is full of possibilities, and curiosity is what leads the way. Technology is part of this- It'd be amazing if technology helped us explore, create, and connect, not just scroll and consume. I love seeing places where people experiment and share ideas together, and I'm curious to see how all of this will develop.

Model JMM6

Lens Width: 49 mm
Bridge Width: 18 mm
Temple Length: 135 mm

JMM6 is a rounded classic panto-style, re-engineered. Ultralight, flexible, and built for everyday motion. The thin profile keeps it minimal, while the curved bridge and oval lenses give JMM6 a softer, timeless edge. Acetate temple ends add comfort and contrast. A versatile frame that balances function and style.

Through my
eyes:

Helping others achieve something - whether it's a small idea or a bigger goal we work on together - is one of the most rewarding things. In my city, everything seems to be moving, and I'm lucky to be surrounded by people who encourage you and always have your back. I wish everyone could have that kind of support - people who help you grow.
